Gloworm Festival helps to raise cash for kids

Local disabled children's charity, School for Parents, is set to benefit from an exciting new family-themed festival In Nottingham! A donation of 50p will be made from every ticket sold to support the work of School for Parents.

Gloworm Festival organisers are also urging purchasers to round up their ticket price or make a £1 donation at the time of purchase.

Eileen Sleaford said: "We are delighted to be chosen by the Gloworm Festival organisers, who are being hugely supportive of our local charity. Not only are they donating 50p from every ticket sold, they are also providing free entry for children that attend our service and this will mean such a lot to our parents and carers. It's wonderful to be involved in this innovative fun event focusing on families – we can't wait and we express our thanks to everyone that adds on a donation to their ticket!"

The Gloworm Festival is on Saturday 20th August 2016 - Sunday 21st August 2016 at Clumber Park and is the first of its kind in Notts. with a host of children's TV characters and entertainers featuring over the two days.

School for Parents is based in Sneinton and provides Conductive Education for children with cerebral palsy and associated sensory impairments, gross motor delay, global development delay, head injuries or strokes that have led to motor planning difficulties, genetic disorders, such as Down's syndrome and muscular dystrophy, that result in delayed or impaired motor development.
